

THE SMUGGLERS AND FOREIGN EXCHANGE MANIPULATORS (FORFEITURE OF PROPERTY) ACT, 1976

INTRODUCTION

The national economy had been very badly affected by the smuggling activities and foreign exchange manipulations. Persons engaged in such malpractices had been augmenting their ill-gotten gains by violations of laws relating to income-tax, wealth-tax or other laws. In many cases, such persons had been holding properties acquired through ill-gotten gains in the names of their relatives, associates and confidants. This accumulation of ill-gotten wealth had given increasing power, influence and resources to those who carry on such clandestine activities. These activities had posed serious threat to the economy and security of the nation. The Government took various steps to deal with the situation and for cleaning the social fabric and resuscitating the national economy, it became necessary to assume powers to deprive such persons of their illegally acquired properties, so as to effectively prevent the smuggling and other clandestine operations. With this objective on 5th November, 1975 the President promulgated the Smugglers and Foreign Exchange Manipulators (Forfeiture of Property) Ordinance, 1975. To replace the said Ordinance by an Act of Parliament the Smugglers and Foreign Exchange Manipulators (Forfeiture of Property) Bill was introduced in the Parliament.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

1. Smuggling activities and foreign exchange manipulations are having a deteious effect on the national economy. Persons engaged in such malpractices have been augmenting their ill-gotten gains by violation of laws relating to income-tax, wealth-tax or other laws. In many cases, such persons have been holding properties acquired through ill-gotten gains in the names of their relatives, associates and confidants. This accumulation of ill-gotten wealth gives increasing power, influence and resources to those who carry on such clandestine activities and even tend to confer social status and prestige which is quite contrary to the healthy socio-cultural norms. These activities pose a serious threat to the economy and the security of the nation. In conjunction with various steps taken by the Government in recent months for cleaning the social fabric and resuscitating the national economy, it became necessary to assume powers to deprive such persons of their illegally acquired properties so as to effectively prevent smuggling and other clandestine operations. The President promulgated on the 5th November, 1975, the Smugglers and Foreign Exchange Manipulators (Forfeiture of Property) Ordinance, 1975.

2. The present Bill seeks to replace the aforesaid Ordinance.

3. The notes on clauses appended to the Bill explain in detail the various provisions thereof.

COMMENTS

Tainted money earned by smuggler who is convicted under COFEPOSA may result in purchasing number of properties. It cannot, therefore, be said that the properties when confiscated after following due procedure of SAFEMA would amount to multiple forfeiture; Aamenabai Tayebaly v. Competent Authority under SAFEMA, AIR 1998 SC 484.

7. Forfeiture of Property in certain cases.—(1) The competent authority may, after considering the explanation, if any, to the show-cause notice issued under section 6, and the materials available before it and after giving to the person affected (and in a case where the person affected holds any property specified in the notice through any other person, to such other person also) a reasonable opportunity of being heard, by order, record a finding whether all or any of the properties in question are illegally acquired properties.

(2) Where the competent authority is satisfied that some of the properties referred to in the show-cause notice are illegally acquired properties but is not able to identify specifically such properties, then, it shall be lawful for the competent authority to specify the properties which, to the best of its judgment, are illegally acquired properties and record a finding accordingly under sub-section (1).

COMMENTS

Where the proceedings for forfeiture of the property of the detenu were started on the basis of an order of his detention under COFEPOSA the fact that the copies of the documents relied were not supplied to the detenu would vitiate his detention and consequently subsequent forfeiture of his property; Union of India v. Haji Mastan Mirza, AIR 1984 SC 681.

8. Burden of proof.—In any proceedings under this Act, the burden of proving that any property specified in the notice served under section 6 is not illegally acquired property shall be on the person affected.

9. Fine in lieu of forfeiture.—(1) Where the competent authority makes a declaration that any property stands forfeited to the Central Government under section 7 and it is a case where the source of only a part, being less than one-half of the income, earnings or assets with which such property was acquired has not been proved to the satisfaction of the competent authority, it shall make an order giving an option to the person affected to pay, in lieu of forfeiture, a fine equal to one and one-fifth times the value of such part.

Explanation.—For the purpose of this sub-section, the value of any part of income, earnings or assets, with which any property has been acquired, shall be—

- (a) in the case of any part of income or earnings, the amount of such part of income or earnings;
- (b) in the case of any part of assets, the proportionate part of the full value of the consideration for the acquisition of such assets.

(2) Before making an order imposing a fine under sub-section (1), the person affected shall be given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(3) Where the persons affected pays the fine due under sub-section (1) within such time as may be allowed in that behalf, the competent authority, may by order, revoke the declaration of forfeiture under section 7 and thereupon such property shall stand released.

10. Procedure in relation to certain trust properties.—In the case of any person referred to in clause (vi) of Explanation 3 of sub-section (2), of section 2, if the competent authority, on the basis of the information and materials available to it, has reason to believe (the reasons for such belief to be recorded in writing) that any property held in trust is illegally acquired property, it may serve a notice upon the author of the trust or, as the case may be, the contributor of the assets out of or by means of which such property was acquired by the trust and the trustees, calling upon them within such time as may be specified in the notice which shall not ordinarily be less than thirty days, to explain the source of the money or other assets out of or by means of which such property was acquired or, as the case may be, the source of the money or other assets which were contributed to the trust for acquiring such property and thereupon such notice shall be deemed to be a notice served under section 6 and all the other provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section “illegally acquired property”, in relation to any property held in trust, includes—

- (i) any property which if it had continued to be held by the author of the trust or the contributor of such property to the trust would have been illegally acquired property in relation to such author or contributor;

11. Certain transfers to be null and void.—Whereafter the issue of a notice under section 6 or under section 10, any property referred to in the said notice is transferred by any mode whatsoever such transfer shall, for the purpose of the proceedings under this Act, be ignored and if such property is subsequently forfeited to the Central Government under section 7, then, the transfer of such property shall be deemed to be null and void.

(5) On receipt of an appeal under sub-section (4), the Appellate Tribunal may, after giving an opportunity to the appellant to be heard, if he so desires, and after making such further enquiry as it deems fit, confirm, modify or set aside the order appealed against.

(6) The powers and functions of the Appellate Tribunal may be exercised and discharged by Benches consisting of three members and constituted by the Chairman of the Appellate Tribunal.

¹[(6A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (6), where the Chairman considers it necessary so to do for expeditious disposal of appeals under this section, he may constitute a Bench of two members and a Bench so constituted may exercise and discharge the powers and functions of the Appellate Tribunal:

Provided that if the members of a Bench so constituted differ on any point or points, they shall state the point or points on which they differ and refer the same to a third member (to be specified by the Chairman) for hearing on such point or points and such point or points shall be decided according to the opinion of that member.]
